become a regular thing. Years ago, when vacation time came around, a general exodus of families took place to favorite sum-mer resorts where the entire vacation period was wasted away in the having of so-called good times, but now, and especially is this true in California, while part of the time is spent to rest up, many of our youths hunt jobs and spend the vacation in business harness.

We feel that this is time well ppent, for it gives the youth the practical along with the theoret-ical knowledge which will better qualify him for the future.

THE boy who waits until he has graduated from college to rub shoulders with the busi-ness fraternity is handicapped several years. Forty-four Million Votes Cast in Test Which Closed Last Thursday Night for Big Prizes From Advertisers

If anyone doubts the pulling power of the Glendale Daily Press as an advertising medium they should take a little time off-say a month or two-and make a recount of the 44,000,000 votes polled in the Consumers' Contest which closed Thursday night. This contest proved one of the most interesting and from the standpoint of real advertising value to the advertiser the best campaign I have ever conducted, and I have put on contests which carried prizes amounting to many thousands of dollars.

These seventeen contestants were walking advertisements of each firm represented on the contest page, and when it is considered that they brought in labels which amounted to 44,000,000 votes some ea can be formed of the task pered by the contestants.

The best of spirit characterized the contest throughout, and while we are sorry each contestant could win a prize it is impossible for all to win in any undertaking.

The Faultless Baking company received a big boost from the contest, so much so that they agreed to give extra prizes to contestants turning in the most wrappers. Dana Van Loon easily won the first prize for Faultless bread wrappers, while Mary Kirby came in second. These are to be paid by the Faultless Baking company of Los Angeles. The $250 in cash will be distributed to winners in the contest by the Glendale Daily Press.

MERCHANTS ARE FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

BY W. L. TAYLOR The greater part of the noon meeting yesterday of the Glendale Merchants' Association was devoted to the discussion of the chamber of commerce drive now on. After considerable dis cussion the association went on record as endorsing the drive.

It was evident that there was a strong sentiment against failure of the chamber to measure up to tis responsibilities, although many of the members felt that the chamber should be backed. R. F. Kitterman said: "I have no interest whatever in the movement except the best interests of Glendale. I think we should have a chamber of com-merce, and as the Los Angeles chamber has given us a man to put on the drive without cost to our local chamber I feel we should all get behind it and put it over."
H. S. Webb said: "I am for anything that boosts Glendale. have made a success of my business by organization and co-opera-tion and I am for the chamber." Many others spoke favoring the drive, but expressed a hope that more real work would be done in the future.

Three new members were added to the Credit Association yesterday, and the chairman of the classifica tion committee, Ole Andresen, who made a short report, felt that many more will be induced to join the association.

No Relief in Sight, Improvement Association Hears

That there is no relief in sight in regard to securing a 5-cent fare from Eagle Rock to Los Angeles, was the word given members of the Eagle Rock Improvement associa tion at the city hall last night, through H. M. Bruce, president. Mr. Bruce announced that he had conferred with an official of the railway and had had the assurance hat nothing could be done at present to secure the 5-cent fare on the Eagle Rock line.

PERILS OF EXERCISE

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers) With the young, the middle-aged and the elderly hastening to take advantage of springtime's opportunities for outdoor exercise, it will not be amiss to issue a few cautionary words. For, if exercise is one of the real needs of life, there are associated with it perils which many do not suspect until more or less serious harm has been done to them. Commonest of all is the peril of over-exercise.

Even young people may seriously injure themselves by exercising too violently and too long. As for the middle-aged and elderly, it is not only necessary to be moderate in outdoor exercise but to select forms of exercise which will not involve undue bodily strains.

It matters not that they may feel "as young and vigorous as ever." Time has inevitably taken toll of their powers, and to persist in exercises suitable only for younger people, or to exercise violently in any form of outdoor recreation is to invite trouble, perhaps to break down completely.

I recall a much-loved friend who thus cut his life short. When bicycling first became popular he took to it enthusiastically, and the waning of the so-called 'bicycle craze" left him as ardent a cyclist as ever. Year after year saw him wheeling about-and always at a good speed, no matter how hilly the road.

His family doctor warned him that he had better ride shorter distances and less strenuously. He laughed at the warning—until sudden difficulty with his breath sent him to a heart specialist. By that time such damage had been done that even powerful heart stimulants did not long avail him.

And, whatever a man's age, it is particularly important that he be moderate when resuming exercise after a prolonged or comparatively prolonged period of muscular inactivity.

Professional athletes know much better than to exert themselves to the utmost immediately after a winter's 'lay-off." Yet there are office workers who do not hesitate, the moment golf links or tennis courts are again playable, to exercise on them as vigorously as though the previous season were still under way.

Happily they usually escape with no worse penalty than muscular stiffness and soreness. But they are risking ailments that may make exercise long impossible to them-and not exercise merely, but the doing of their

Then, too, there is what may be called the postexercise peril.

Common sense tells everyone that, after exercise vigorous enough to induce perspiration, it always is desirable to get a rub-down and a change of clothing, and certainly is risky to stand about in damp clothes. Many men deliberately ignore this dictate of common sense, or fail to heed it through forgetfulness. With the result that exercise and the catching of cold are often synony-

EAGLE ROCK TO Guring DRAW TOGETHER CIVIC FORCES

To Represent Section on the City Planning Commission

EAGLE ROCK, June 12 .- That George C. Mattison, former president of the Sunrise Civic club, and member of the board of trustees of Eagle Rock prior to annexation, will be Eagle Rock's representative commission, providing the plan to gain an Eagle Rock representation in that body is successfut, was announced at the meeting of the Eagle Rock Improvement associa-tion at the city hall last night.

Secretary Ingram, of the Eagle Rock association, who is also a member of the Rockdale associamr. H. M. Bruce, president of the association, announced that he had been told by authorities that Eagle tion, announced that the latter or ganization is also backing Mr. Mattison in this matter. A letter from Robert Allen, of the Los Angeles city council was read, stating that the application had been favorable ly received, and forwarded to the proper parties for verification.

It was unanimously voted that the Eagle Rock Improvement Association become a member of the Greater Los Angeles association. and the secretary was instructed to forward the dues at once in order to have Eagle Rock officially represented at all the meetings. In securing this membership, each of the officers of the Eagle Rock Improvement association automatically becomes a member of the Greater Los Angeles association

Dear Mr. Barnes: In playing iron shots is it bet-ter to keep the arms in pretty close to the body, or can they be *allowed to work fairly free out from the sides? It appears to me that to keep them tucked in close is bound to rob the stroke of a good deal of its force and consequently its distance. What do you advise in a case of this kind?

R. C."

Your statement is correct. will be Eagle Rock's representative free swing with the arms a little in the Los Angeles city planning out from the sides gives more powout from the sides gives more power to the stroke, but makes it more difficult to control. The question of just what to do is whether you can afford to sacrifice a little distance for more accuracy. Most golfers probably can afford to do so. If it is necessary to get distance, why not go to a longer club, and use your frons only for ranges that you can make with the shot under control.

It is of course much easier to control the stroke if you play it with the arms pretty well into the sides. Especially ought you to keep your right elbow from getting away from you. Of course it is easier to keep them in on a flat swing than on an upright ene, but in any case, it is a good idea to in any case, it is a good idea to keep them well under control.

So far as mashie play is concerned, you must keep the arms well in. It is a mistake to try to well in. It is a mistake to try to use a loose free swing with this club, that is supposing you play it within its normal range and don't go out to force it with a wild wallop for distance that ought to call for a longer club. PROFITABLE FEED

[By Associated Press]

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 12.

The feeding of western sheep and cattle on the screenings from the big elevators at the head-of-the-lakes has been carried on successfully during the past winter. The animals are brought here from the

This plan was inaugurated by R.

C. Harvey, an Alberta sheep rancher, two years ago. In 1921 he wintered some 6000 sheep. The railways granted him a through rate to Eastern Canadian points with stop-over privileges. The sheep were fed on a diet consisting of screenings, mixed with an allowance of hay. After being fed for the winter months on this concentrated ration, the animals showed a very profitable increase and were reloaded for eastern markets.

ed and fed more than 10,000 sheep,

The experimental stage is over and a saving of thousands of dollars annually is expected to result

Fattening of cattle on the ele-vator screenings was tried out during the past winter with gratifying

CHICAGO TREASURER 20-STORY HOME FOR "TRIBUNE"

OAKLAND, Calif., June 12 .- The $1,000,000 twenty-story, concrete and pressed brick Oakland Tribune Tower, the tallest building in this city, will be completed October 1, Tower, the tallest building in this city, will be completed October 1, 1923, according to a statement made here by Joseph R. Knowland, publisher of the Tribune. The new Tribune Tower, which forms an integral part of the present six-story Tribune building, will be a combination newspaper and office building.

The first six floors of the new The first six floors of the new building will be connected with the old building, and the editorial, linotype and press rooms will be on the fourth, third and baseme floors, respectively. The basement of the new building will be made into a newspaper press room of the latest improved design. A new ten-cylinder multicolor unit press has been ordered and will be installed as soon as the building is completed. New linotype machines will augment the battery of 24 "linos" now being used. The new mechanical equipment, it is stated, will give the Tribune one of the largest and most modern newspaper equipments on the Pacific

On the twentieth floor of the Tower, a 500-watt radio studio will be installed by the Tribune. An antenna will be strung from the top of the tower to the top of the new Oakland bank building, which is being constructed approximately 200 feet away. The antenna, which will be 326 feet high at the Tribune end and 290 feet high at the Oak land bank end, will be the second highest broadcasting antenna in the United States, according to Mr. Knowland.

The 500-watt radio equipment will place the Tribune in the same class with the stations operated by the Detroit News, Chicago News, Los Angeles Times and Portland Oregonian. The Tribune (KLX) will operate on an exclusive national wave length, and, in addition, to its regular two-hours concerts, will feature lectures and plays of the University of Califorprairie provinces and finished for

STEPHEN FIRST CHURCH MARTYR. IS DISCUSSED

Stephen, the first martyr of the church, was the topic of an inter-esting Bible lecture on the sixth and seventh chapters of Acts given by Keith L. Brooks, at the city hall day morning. The meeting is under the auspices of the Presby-terian brotherhood. Mr. Brooks said in part:

Stephen is one of the most beautiful characters in the Bible. We have the story of one one day of his life—the last day—yet it is a remarkable picture, for he proaches in a character and conluct that of Jesus in many ways. Like Jesus, he was a Spirit-filled man of power, yet was maligned, hated, and murdered, and his bitterest opposition was from men who had a form of religion. Stephen stands at the parting of the other inhabited worlds besides the phemed Moses, all that sat in the with a peculiar light. This was the very honor that God had placed he came down from Mount Sinai, his face shone while God talked with him. Stephen was possessed ally a sign of a great man. A little man is sure to lose his head.

The seventh chapter gives us Stephen's reply to the Jews. proves from the Old Testament that Jesus, whom they had murder prophets had foretold. At the close of his argument he becomes the and pronounces the indictment against the nation. "Ye stiffand ears, ye do always resist the Holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do ye." Christ had brought this same charge against the nation.

His hearers were cut to the heart and the original has a word which means 'sawn through the heart." His words have been like a ragged edged saw to the flesh. The truth usually has a double effect. When Peter had delivered practically the same message, his hearers were priced in their hearts and said "What must we do to be saved?"

godly man on a thing of this kind than the speculations of hundreds of agnostics as to what they do not DR. FUNK TELLS know. As Stephen committed his spirit to Christ, he prayed, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge.' This brings to memory Jesus' own words on the cross. In his dying moments Stephen acknowledged Jesus as the Son of God and the Judge of men. If Jesus is not of the Godhead the first martyr of the church died in the very act of

There stood by, the young man named Saul, who looked after the clothes of Stephen's executioners. He heartily approved of what was done and was therefore a participant, but the loud voice of Stephen's last prayer never ceased to echo in his ears. Perhaps but for that audible prayer the church would not have had the great Apostle Paul. This scene prodded his mind like a goad. This very man would shortly take Stephen's place as a witness, and the very arguments he had heard Stephen declaring he was destined to reit erate throughout the land and to record for the whole world in all

They have silenced the voice of Stephen, but have they won out against Christianity? From that one sacrifice sprang thousands of conversions as trophies of the power of God, that causes seed when planted to spring forth and increase. To the church it seemed like a calamity. Time alone could show the wisdom of God's larger plan. The violent hand of the persecutor becomes like the scattering hand of the sower, and the Gospel seed sprouted wherever it

A martyr is God's last argument with the world. When everything else had been failing and men had not been moved by persuasion and warning, God's last testimony to the power of Histruth is the willingness of His followers to sacrifice their lives for Him. It is significant that the church of Christ has re-entered an era of martyr-dom. Have we realized it? The present century opened with the

Stove and Range Works Thank the People of Glendale

After sojourning in Glendale for one month, the Angelus Stove and Range Works, 117 West Harvard, reports that business has been better than was anticipated.

This firm is handling four makes of gas ranges, offering these in all styles and prices. The Round Oak, Angelus, Detroit Jewel and Favorite, comprise the ranges to be found in great numbers at the display rooms.

These goods are bought direct from the factory, thereby enabling the local firm to cut out the middleman's profit, it is claimed. The firm's manager today expressed deep satisfaction in the patronage the people of Glendale have given the new store, saying that it is his belief that this is their way of showing appreciation for the prices offered.

The Angelus range is a California product, the factory being lo-cated in Oakland, and due to the fact that there is less freight to pay, is offered at a most reason able price. A factory for this range is now under construction at Culver City, where a great proportion of the production will be carried Stephen's hearers were cut to the heart and gnashed on him with their teeth. This is the history of preaching. It is a savor of life unto life or death unto death. No man is the same after the sermon as he was before.

As Stephen was being stoned to death, he looked up to heaven and saw the Son of man standing to welcome his spirit. Did he see Jesus or not? I would rather accept the testimony of one such

SHALL IGNORANCE, REV. W. E. EDMONDS DELIVERS SECOND SELFISHNESS

Following is the seventh sermon in the series of nine that Rev. C. A. Cole is preaching in Central Christian church, on the general "Is the World Growing Better?" The next sermon, on Sun-day evening, June 17, will consist of comments on and the drawing of lessons from answers to ques-tionaires sent by Rev. Cole to 25 leading men of the nation, nearly all of whom answered. The subject of the sermon following is, "The Twin Ogres: Shall Ignorance and Selfishness Prevail?"

"This fine old world of ours is but a child, still in its go-cart." Through all the years, two ter rible monsters have stalked over the earth, arm in arm, the two greatest obstacles to progress and the two great sources of human misery - Ignorance and Selfish-

Ignorance, fearful and black and bloody, has stood in the way of all "It has made men the vic tims of fear and superstition, of want and famine and pestilence, of heat and cold and flood and of ignoble content, while lacking the numberless good things nature was waiting to bestow."

Selfishness, grim and terrible and gruesome, "has made men the victims of one another by war, oppression, slavery, murder, robbery, theft, fraud, outrage, revenge, and a thousand other wrongs; and, at the same time, notwithstanding all his wrongs at the hands of others, it has made man his own worst enemy."

These two great drags on the progress of the race are related vitally and fundamentally to the question "Is the World Growing

1. Ignorance - What wonderful progress the world has made within our lifetime in strangling this monster. How slow the progress before. The progress of the last 100 years has been "so vast at the same time so abrupt that it might also be called a mighty cataclysm in the intellectual life of the race." Practically all knowledge is only about 100 years old, aside from spiritual truth, and how glorious is the reasonable expectation for the long future! We did Shakespeare or Galileo or Aristotle, the nineteenth century. The year 1800 saw more than 60 per cent of the earth's surface yet unexplored. At the Centennial Exposition, in 1876, there was but one telephone. Now there are untold millions, all over the world. Twenty years ago the sending of a wireless message only a few miles was a wonderful triumph. Now the earth can be girdled in a very few moments. And with millions of dollars available and 10,000 me of ability eager in research; what REV. KEMP GOES will not science accomplish in the next few decades?

Modern business has the same motto, unwritten though it may be. It keeps within the law, but relegates all moral restraints to the four winds.

"Every man for himself" is the creed of an individualistic and un christian civilization. Between buyer and seller selfishness is as sumed as a matter of course. SUMMER SERMONS

At the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds delivered the second of a series of "summer Sabbath sermons." His topic was "The Holy Spirit Controlling Judges" and the message was bas ed on I Cor. 1:27-29. He spoke in part as follows:

The Book of Judges marks the deepest depression and declension on the Old Testament. The dark cloud following the conquest of Caanan was far deeper and denser than the one which preceded it. God uses the darkest clouds as His background for rainbows of His most gracious manifestations. Some of the brightest exhibitions of God's grace have been in the face of the adversary's fierce on-slaughts. Four and a half centuries of sin recorded in this book yet there are many beautiful incidents recorded Othniel was Israel's first judge. By the power of the Holy Spirit he conquered the mighty monarch of Mesopotamia and secured for his land nearly half a century of freedom. God is preparing His heroes still and when the opportunity comes He can fit them into their place in a moment and the world looks on in wonder.

Deborah was the first example of a woman called to public leadership. What a glorious multitude of noble women have followed in her train. A great ministry in the church today is being done by women holy. They are the most potent moral force of the age. May we not pray that God will use more and more the high and holy ministry of women.

Gideon was a man hiding behind the barn for fear of the Midianites. The Holy Spirit uses fit men. They may be weak but He does not want to continue weak after He them. He does not want to continue foolish after He comes to give them wisdom. He uses the fcolishness of preaching but not the foolishness of preachers. He conquers by weak things, lamps, pitchers, and trumpets, but all the glory belongs to Him.

In Samson the Holy Spirit is the source of physical strength. There s no more remarkable figure in the Bible than this sturdy giant of Timnath. His strength was entire- Horn and Mr. John Cammack. ly due to the presence and power of the Holy Spirit. He lost this strength the moment he opened for several years, only three days his life to worldliness, with his head in the lap of Delilah. His cannot anticipate it any more than strength was gone and he was like any other man. The test and proof of the Spirit filled life in separation and obedience. "Come out from among them and be ye separate.' Such are in the world but not of it. Such is the blessed fullness of the Holy Spirit as unfolded in this ancient book of Judges. May God make real to every believer the power of the Holy Spirit with which he is endowed and lead him difficulty in getting fitted to a out into a large place of service for His name's sake.

be omitted on that day. All in all, we are getting new conceptions of the universe, and a better knowledge of God. What slorious promise the future holds!

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's, will leave Thursday for Asilomar, Monterey county, where he will conduct a devotional class at the fifth annual summer vacation conference of the Episcopal church in California, which is being held from June 15 to 22, under the auspices of the diocese of Call ifornia.

Rev. Kemp will be in charge of the class on the organization of young people in the parish. Courses on personal regilion, studies and faith, domestic missions, America and foreign born, religious education, and human life in the psalms, will also be given.

Several notable clergymen are on the faculty of the conference. Among them are the Rt. Rev. Edward Lambe Parsons, D. D., bishop coadjutor of California; Rt. Rev. Louis C. Sanford, D. D., missionary bishop of San Joaquin; Rev. Burleson of Vermillion, South Dakota; Rev. Charles M. Addison of Cambridge, Mass., as well as Mr. Arthur Cotter, of the foreibn-born American division of the national department of missions of the Episcopal church.

There does not seem to be the slightest occasion for falling into the clutches of these thicves. Very rarely is an honest man deceived by them. Usually they manage to get their victim in a position that makes him equally with themselves, offend against the law. Therefore one good way of escaping them is to be honest.

FICTION'S NEW FIELD

In the laudable attempt to raise the production of moving pictures to a higher level, not merely of artistry, but of literary value, it would seem imperative for the change to begin with the writers. Much that has appeared in novel form, handicraft of masters of fiction, on the screen has presented such variations from the originals as to distress all familiar with the book or story. It must have been agonizing to the authors themselves provided they had the unhappiness to behold it. In many instances, however, a somewhat sinister advantage has been taken of the demise of the authors, and expiration of copyright.

One trouble has been that the literary product has been filtered through the intelligence, not always high-grade, of the directors and the men known as producers. These have not hesitated to sacrifice the spirit of the story to the notion that an artificial 'punch' must be injected. Sometimes there has Bunko men, as a certain class of professional been the attempt to film a story so constructed as to swindlers are called, are said to exact tribute of more not lend itself to such purpose. # COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is a little difficult to understand why crime flourishes in Los Angeles to the extent that it does. Assuredly there has been an earnest effort to combat it. Long ago the citizens were aroused. It was due to the action of private citizens that the police has been greatly strengthened. Yet crimes of violence con-tinue in increased volume. The record of burglary probably is beyond any precedent set elsewhere. Banditry is common. Assaults on women occur with dreadful frequency. The city is the social and commercial center of a community that is an all year resort. This brings many of the tourist class, most of them presumably reasonably well supplied with money. It also brings the professionals who prey upon all who have money. But as the habits of the underworld are known, it is strange that its representatives are not checked.

In the comparatively minor matter of automobile thefts the score gets worse and worse. This year 1760 automobiles have been stolen from the streets of Los Angeles, against 1095 for the corresponding period last year. In May alone there were 402 such thefts to compare with 250 for May 1922. The fact that delay, appeal, probation, legal chicanery, judicial elemency, jury stupidity, and parole, all contribute to the encouragement of crime has been mentioned so often that it need not be repeated.

Opponents of narcotics, this meaning the vast majority of citizens, will be glad when the law goes into effect making the possession or sale of illicit drugs a felony. The present practice of sending offenders to jail for ninety days may be described as a gentle slap on the wrist. Most of the active criminals that annoy the authorities and make people timorous, are dope fiends. The matter of bail or no bail, for a person charged with crime, brings to view seeming inconsistencies. Certain prisoners are now confined in jail, accused of having flogged a gross transgressor against the law. In the group of prisoners are the father and two brothers of a girl who had been unspeakably wronged. The person flogged had been arraigned for the crime, and given his liberty on $500 bail. Had they sought out openly the assailant of the child, killed him in the broad light of day, there could not have been gathered in California a jury that would have found them guilty.

The Stanley and Robert Dollar shipping organization seeks to purchase all the vessels now used by the Shipping Board on the Pacific coast. The bid has been made and the result is awaited. This is an important matter. The ordinary citizen does not know what ought to be done about it, but he is rather glad that decision does not rest with him. At this writing a Japanese of El Centro has been living twentyfour hours with so much of his brain shot away, that ordinarily his death would have ensued in as many seconds.

Not everything pertaining to the brain, wonderful and complex organ, is known yet. If the wounded man may live twenty-four hours, why not twenty-four years? And were he to live, how would the functioning of his mind suggest the absence of many brain cells?

This attitude seems to impair the theory that the man is crazy. He acts just like an average man. Insurance to the amount of $2,000,000, obtained by a wealthy woman, is said to be the largest policy ever issued to one of her sex.

There are comparatively few people able to pay premiums on such an amount, and few able to do so would be likely to feel an impulse in that direction. Gain in the value of Los Angeles manufactured products last year over the year preceding was $100,000,000, bringing the total to almost a round billion. The attention of eastern readers is called to the fact as indicating that this region has something besides climate and citrus fruits.

"I have not got to loan it to you, no matter how ungrammatical this statement may be. And I'm not a-going to do it." Pop is one of these birds who firmly believes that some one must

If he had put the same amount of personality and pep and punch into selling goods or building railroads that he has into nicking innocent acquaintances for ten dollar bills he would today have dyspepsia, a couple of sons in large red cars and a marble palace full of draughts. Whereas he has

I have not been able to resist him. Nor has any one else. He isn't dissipated, industrious, or worthy. He is always clean and well pressed and has plenty of wit, humor and anecdote. wants money he bursts right through the office boy barricade. scales the swinging gates, opens the door of the private office and gets it. I am not the only sufferer. Every one he knows pays tribute from time to time. He never comes for more money until the memory of the last touch has somewhat faded.

The fact that Pop has, can, and will continue to nick me for small sums is of no importance. Nor has the fact that, if Pop had put that power of his into work he would now be well to do, any bearing on the present moral. What is worth considering is that no one really cares whether Pop lives or dies. Nor, down in our hearts, do many of us assume any responsibility for the lives and

TWO in ONE— Owner and Landlord

The average landlord of today began with building one house - and then another-and so on. But he had money, you say. Sometimes he had, but often he started somewhat as we suggest there-by building a home which he could live in and also large enough to rent a part of it.

Why not build a double home and rent one apartment while you enjoy all the comforts of the other? We can show you plans for a number of ideal structures of this character, ranging from those for couples to homes which will accommodate large families.

When you own your lot, the building of the home is an easy matter. Consult our Photographic Plan and Building Service Department, which costs you nothing. Then when you decide what you want, plans and specifications may be procured without delay, from our plan service.

You've been wanting to build that home for years, perhaps. You will never have a better chance than now to get into the home-owning and landlord classes at a single step. We are ready to serve you. Let us advise you at once.

The above plans are furnished by Bentley Lumber Co., 460 West Los Feliz Road. The details and prices for the construction of any building which may appear on this page can be obtained free of charge by any one desiring the same from the
